

Zoloft has helped millions with depression.
This is Jen's story. JEN H. AGE 27, MIAMI, FL.*

*Story not based on actual person.

My sister and I tell each other everything.

She said one day, "I miss the old you... the one that smiled."

We had a long talk about depression. She was familiar with some of the symptoms.

She told me about an old boyfriend whose doctor had prescribed Zoloft to treat his depression.

She said it's the number one prescribed brand for depression and anxiety.

So we went to my doctor together. He diagnosed me with depression and prescribed Zoloft.

He and I made regular appointments to talk about my progress.

Before long, I was feeling better. My sister noticed too.

Nothing has ever come between us. Why let depression change that?

Depression is a serious medical condition, which can lead to the risk of suicidal thoughts and behavior. A combined analysis of studies involving 9 antidepressants showed that in people under 18 this risk was 4% for those taking antidepressants compared to 2% for those taking a sugar pill. This risk must be balanced with the medical need. Those starting medication should be watched closely for suicidal thoughts, worsening of depression, or unusual changes in behavior. In children and teens, ZOLOFT is only approved for use in those with obsessive-compulsive disorder.

ZOLOFT is not for everyone. People taking MAOIs or pimozide shouldn't take ZOLOFT. Side effects may include dry mouth, insomnia, sexual side effects, diarrhea, nausea and sleepiness. In studies, few people were bothered enough by side effects to stop taking ZOLOFT. ZOLOFT is not habit forming and is not associated with weight gain.

So talk to your doctor about how ZOLOFT might help you. ZOLOFT comes in 25mg, 50mg, and 100mg tablets. You and your doctor can discuss the dose for you. For more information, please see the following page, call 1-800-6-ZOLOFT (696-5638) or visit ZOLOFT.com.
